

When You Stop Learning, You're Dead

Pastor Ralph Taylor

His 60th Birthday had already become A date in the fading past
When I heard Pastor Taylor say
"Son, when you stop learning, you're dead."

His humble spirit shone through deep blue eyes and he made his point quite clear Forty years in the pastorate had Taught him the need to learn and grow.

He taught us in the Pastors Training School
How to spend time with God
And showed how iron sharpens iron
"Cause when you stop learning, you're dead."

Full Holy Spirit Control, Leadership and Organization all Culminate in a vision for World Evangelization

No big shots, liberal views, or narrow mindedness
No room for pride or carnal shows
Just three days to gain useful tools

Who could deny the greatest need for busy preachers now
Is to learn to work with the Holy Spirit
Directing, guiding, and supplying every need?

Thank God for the Pastors Training School
Where men of God can come
To gain some skills and be refreshed
"Cause when you stop learning, you're dead."

*by Mark Gostlin
French Redemption Project
<http://frenchredemptionproject.org>
Member of GSBM Administrative Team
Lille, France and other French-speaking countries*